Lightweight audio ripper for audio CDs. It supports MDA, M4a and Wma. Identification of an allele in the SOD1 gene which predisposes to amyotrophic lateral sclerosis. The authors have looked for an allele in the SOD1 gene which is linked to ALS. One ALS patient from a small sibship who carried an SOD1 allele with a 5 bp deletion between bases 206 and 207 had a reduced amount of Cu,ZnSOD. The authors conclude that an increase in the production of a toxic protein is not the only explanation for a gene's involvement in the pathogenesis of ALS, but that it may be the production of an abnormal protein which contributes to the development of motor neuron dysfunction. It is now official! All four editors of the Málaga Film Festival have congratulated Pedro Almodóvar on the big honour of the festival's most coveted prize, which he will be receiving this Friday, October 27. The Spanish auteur will be the recipient of the Málaga Film Festival's Best Director prize. The jury is made up of Guillermo del Toro, Alejandro Amenábar, Guillermo Navarro and Alejandro Amenábar and consists of prominent figures in the Spanish film industry, such as MFF's artistic director, Carlos Saura. "Pedro Almodóvar is one of the most emblematic figures of contemporary culture worldwide. His films are constantly provoking new forms in the fields of film and documentary, as well as the things that surround and shape our lives," said Saura to the Málaga Film Festival organizers upon announcing the prize. "He is one of the most innovative directors of contemporary cinema, with a prolific and original body of work that stands out above the rest." (screened at festivals around the world, including the Berlin Film Festival, which granted his last film, Los abrazos rotos, the prestigious Golden Bear). The only woman among the four, Alejandra Silva, said that Almodóvar's films touch every level of the human experience: "His work is in front of all of us. Through his work, Almodóvar provokes you to think, to read, and also makes you laugh. He is an invaluable actor in our society."
