Ganesh was born on 28 November 1964 to a Telugu family. He has also done a B.Sc. and M.Sc. from Telugu University, He was a plumber by profession. He is a vegetarian, and was a strict follower of Astanga Yoga at the start of his career. He currently lives in Mumbai. He has two sons, Arjun and Aditya. Ganesh got his first break into acting while auditioning to play a character in a film titled Nanjupurana in 1984. He had made his debut in the comedy film Neelakanta (1986) with actor Mohan Babu. In 1987, he acted in Neelakanta Nayana (1987) and played the lead role in Kattupalli Gurramayya (1988), which ran for over 400 days. He was next seen in the action comedy film Noorjehan (1991) that starred Jackie Shroff and Meenakshi Seshadri, which was a big hit in the Telugu Film Industry. That year, he also starred in Krishnam Raju's Geetha Chakram. The success of that film turned him into a leading star in the South. His performance in Geetha Chakram, along with his strong supporting roles in other films in that year, marked the beginning of a long string of commercially successful films he would make over the next ten years. He returned in 1992 with Ramudochadu, a remake of Subramaniam's blockbuster hit, Thirupathi, released the following year. In 1997, he starred in the superhit Kichcha Savaal, based on the story Vittala. Later that year, he featured in another commercially successful film, Adhirudh, which broke many box office records. It was his performance in Adhirudh that marked the turning point in his career, after which he would establish himself as a leading actor in the South and even win a Filmfare Award for Best Actor. Adhirudh was also the first film of his career to feature the sobbing song, "Nee Dorena Kodi", which won him the Filmfare Award for Best Lyricist. His performance in the film earned him a spot in the A.B. Trivedi-directed Nuvve Kavali, released in 2002. That film would go on to become a big success and was, at the time, the biggest-gross

This process has to: Perform a GUI with toolkit. Send commands to a MySQL database with some stored procedures. Read data from the MySQL database. The GUI and the MySQL database are the responsibilities of the main thread. The service needs to be able to put the process to sleep for 2 seconds, perform some actions on the GUI (change the state of windows forms), before putting the process to sleep again. Is there any mechanism to trap those actions, and send a signal to the process so that it can terminate itself? Currently, a call to TerminateProcess() is being sent every 10 seconds to the process. I'd like the process to terminate by itself when some action occurs on the GUI. A: You can detect service termination in the following way 0cc13bf012
